In the New Haven case, one man was shot and several severely wounded otherwise, the cause being the report that certain students had

One of the leaders remarked on the subject: "It is necessary for this government of ours to take some radical action against riots and mob violence, but it is expecting a great deal of any American soldier to have him remain quiet and passive when he is ridiculed by slackers, while he bore his breast to German cannon." Jay Lynch was accused of murder, and had been tried and sentenced. Twenty-four white men broke into the judge's private room and took Lynch out from the presence of his wife, mother, baby and other relatives and lynched him in the presence of a great crowd of people.

SUPPORT THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

The Lynching of a white man at Lamar, Baston County, Mo., last week by a mob of unmasked men in the broad-open-day-light, and to-date not a single arrest of the offenders has been reported. It is a strong argument in favor of Mr. Dyer's Anti-Lynching Bill which was recently introduced in the United States Congress. The bill, to our mind is logical, reasonable and is clothed with all the necessary legal aspects to hit lynching at a death blow.

The officers of the law at Lamar have already expressed their doubts about securing indictments or convictions of any of the participants, notwithstanding the prosecuting attorney says he positively can identify at least nine of the ring leaders. Therefore it is readily seen that the only way to assure the punishment of persons of local communities who commit such crimes is for the Federal Authorities to take charge of the case.

Lynchings by mob violence undermines the very foundation of our form of government. The white people have condoned it as a necessity to terrorize and intimidate the Negro. But L.C. Dyer, seeing or rather living ahead of his day, has warned the people of the nation of its danger. He has told them that Federal Supervision is the only way to adequately cope with the growing menace. States have said they are unable to check it, so the government of the United States owes to every citizen the full protection of the law. If the states fail, then the United States is responsible—support Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill.

Weaklings for Officers. One of the strangest assurances that the mob has that it can act with immunity is that the officers of the law are of their kind, they are weaklings, they are worse than the mob; they have no regard for their oath; they like Pilate, wash their hands and say "I am innocent, the blood be upon the people." True, they are as guiltless as Pilate, and every officer who allows a mob to take a prisoner from him should be immediately removed from office.

THIS GOVERNMENT NEEDS AN AWAKENING

The simultaneous explosion of bombs and attacks on the lives of guardians of the law of this land a fortnight ago, is another eye opener by which the nation should profit. Some of the optimists still say there are a few radicals who are responsible for the outrages and the people need not be alarmed. But this time, "only Luck" saved the life of Attorney General Palmer, and he has called forth a young army of secret service men to hunt down the plotters who seek to overthrow this government.

As to whether those bombs scared the powers that be out of their senses, or into their senses, we are not able to say just now. But one thing we do know, and that is the Attorney General seems to forget about State Rights or State Jurisdiction, and called all the powers of the government at once. He did not wait to hear what Southern or Northern Senators had to say. Even the leading daily newspapers North and South forgot all about "State Rights."

This might be properly called "highway lynching." It is the same spirit that has unlawfully taken thousands of lives of America's best and most loyal citizens and Uncle Sam has not raised his hand or voice in protest. So it is quite natural to reason that contempt breeds contempt. These bombs are teaching this nation a lesson that it should have learned long ago, that in the safety of the Nation is not secure until the rights of its most humble citizens are respected.

It is claimed that it is the foreign element, those who are not citizens, those who have no desire to become citizens, nor speak our language, who are responsible for these high attempts at lynchings. If that is the case, we must confess that we have no regrets, nor have we any tears to shed because they have abused the confidence and privileges thrust upon them by the people of this nation. The color of their skin has been accepted "simply as a matter of fact," they have been given the advantages over a class of the most loyal citizens, in the shops, factories and all the scientific industries, as well as residence and accommodation as on railroads and hotel facilities.

When we think of these things, we feel like we should have heard the sound of those bombs that had such telling effects upon the high officials of this country. We have noted with some interest that President Wilson as soon as he heard the news, immediately sent a cable of regret to those threatened. We recall with anguish of soul, the cry of the twelve million colored Americans who have prayed and pleaded with Presidents and Congress for relief from oppression, murdering and burning only to receive a deaf ear, we remember that four hundred thousand of brave men took their lives in their hands, as a challenge for the common rights of American citizens, only to receive an answer "State Rights." But those bombs, those "infernal" machines, somehow have made the government forget State Rights and we find a young army of secret service men on the job scattered through all the States.

This shows plainly what the government can do when interested.—We shall watch this awakening.

RADICALISM

From Wisconsin Weekly State

We used to think that certain of our leading men who continually harped upon and protested against discrimination and injustice were entirely "too radical," that they ought to go quickly and modestly about their own personal affairs and by the acquisition of property and education make themselves worthy of better treatment; that if they were denied the right to occupy property owned by them in a desirable neighborhood, they purchase property elsewhere and by their own acts improve that neighborhood. And there are lots of colored people who think that now. But we have long since changed our views upon the subject. We think differently now. We think differently now. We really doubt if it is possible to be too radical in ones opposition to race hatred, discrimination and injustice. Certainly no opposition that has failed to accomplish reforms in this respect can be too radical.

And after all, what is opposition to existing order of things, but Radicalism? Can he who opposes present conditions of things be other than radical? Conservatism is the disposition to preserve what is established—satisfaction with existing customs, things and conditions. Conservatism is the executioner of Progress. It obstructs reforms and retards the spread of civilization.

Radicalism is the herald of Progress, the handmaiden of Reform, a guide, to civilization. It forced from the reluctant hands of King John at Runnymede Magna Charta; it broke the yoke of England and gave independence to the 13 colonies and to the world a great republic. It struck from the limbs of four million human beings the galling chains of slavery and made them the possessors of their own persons, the directors of their own destiny. Radicalism does things. Be sure your cause is just and be as radical as you can. You cannot be too radical in a righteous cause.

"VICTORY PAGEANT" GIVEN IN CHICAGO

By Associated Negro Press.
CHICAGO, June 4.—In "The Victory Pageant" given at Quinn Chapel A. M. E. Church this week, the people of Chicago witnessed the greatest production of the kind ever held here. There were more than 500 participants representing the various countries of the world, each trained perfectly in the manners and customs of the various people. After the procession singing and dancing of those representing each country, tableaux scenes were formed of which the beauty of color and harmony of pose, outlasted anything previously witnessed by Chicagoans. The costumes were marvelous in beauty and color and detail, each country represented by queen, hostess and attendants, charming the audience by the excellence of taste. The "pageant" production was given under the personal direction of Miss Pauline James Lee and Clarence E. Moore, director of the Chicago School of Dramatic Art. A Word About Prices

There are indeed volumes of our business brings us our merchandise at a substantial saving over what ordinary stores must pay at the factory. Likewise this large business cuts down our cost of operation and enables us to sell to you at a considerable saving. At times it is a matter of hundreds of dollars on complete outfits.

It is hard for many people to understand what the furniture we sell without seeing it for themselves. The reasons we can sell for less are obvious:

1. We own our own building. We don't have to pay high down-town rents.
2. We don't go in for a lot of extravagant, high-priced help. We let the goods and prices sell themselves.
3. We are satisfied with less profit because we want to build up the biggest furniture business in St. Louis.

Terms of Payment

Our prices are just the same, whether you pay cash or avail yourself of the privilege of our Easy-Pay-to-Pay Plan; that is, a small amount down at time of purchase and the balance in weekly or monthly amounts, as you can best spare the money.

A. E. Mitchell Wins in Circuit Court. Judge C. Kimball Heard Down. Decision in the Case. Attorney Plaintiff Clerk Makes Able Plea for His Client.

The American Woodmen received another setback in its legal entanglements last Monday, June 10, when a decision from the circuit bench was rendered in favor of E. E. Mitchell, who brought suit against that organization to recover sick benefits that had been due him since February, 1918.

The case was originally filed in a justice court and after delay, change of venue and excess on the part of the order, Attorney Clark filed suit in the federal court. Mitchell's attorney, E. E. Mitchell, in addition to Attorney D. B. Bowen, to fight the case in order to prevent paying a last claim on his members.

It was shown at the trial that the business of the case was conducted on poor business and that the officers failed in carrying out the by-laws of the order.

After hearing all the evidence in the case Judge Kimball rendered a decision in favor of Mr. Mitchell, together with attorney fees.

Attorney Clark made an able plea for his client, showing that the order was not a legal entity and was the only body by which a just decision could be reached. This contention was sustained by the court, who headed down the decision.

The order in its legal status as a "business" entity, and the fact that the local operations are too much of a "business" to be considered as a "club" or "association" was the basis of the decision.
